Opinion

by Stephanie Yeagle

View Author Profile

syeagle@ncronline.org
Follow on Twitter at @ncrSLY

Join the Conversation

Send your thoughts to Letters to the Editor. Learn more

February 6, 2018
Share on BlueskyShare on FacebookShare on TwitterEmail to a friendPrint

Here's what's new at NCRonline today:

Top German cardinal signals cautious support for blessing same-sex couples

Soul Seeing: The sacrament of touch

Justice Action Bulletin: Anti-trafficking webinar; homeless persons lawsuit; DACA fast

Association of Catholic Colleges and Universities meeting: Catholic universities challenged to think creatively to meet financial, student enrollment changes

Catholic Social Ministry Gathering: Church's efforts to protect Amazon vital, panelists say

Read all of our coverage of the Catholic Social Ministry Gathering here

Pope and Erdogan discuss Jerusalem, Mideast peace

Don't miss these stories at Global Sisters Report:

At Haitian-Dominican border, shelter protects children vulnerable to human trafficking

Q & A with Sr. Rosemary Nyirumbe, using fame as a springboard to shout

In new book, younger sisters write about religious life of the present

Column: Advocacy on human trafficking

Advertisement

In other news around the web:

Evangelicals may be driving Republican stance to embrace 'DREAMers'

Holy Cross votes to keep Crusaders moniker

Possible deal between Vatican and China alarms many Catholics

Plan to save Europe's synagogues receives high-profile backing

Why Desperate Families Are Getting Religion on Health Coverage

Opinion: The Scariest Catholic in America

A Catholic blogger says Christians shouldn't do yoga. Does he have a point?

RE-CONCEPTUALIZING SACRED SPACES