Dear Readers,

Every year, this published list of supporters reminds us here at National Catholic Reporter that a dedicated community of readers stands behind everything we do.

In a media world continually buffeted by change and uncertainty, this special section serves as our cornerstone, a sign of the sturdy foundation of donors that keeps NCR growing and thriving despite the headwinds around us.

Thank you for your commitment to NCR’s unique brand of church-centered journalism: proudly independent, deeply trustworthy, always reliable.

Your support is more important than ever. This fall brings the first of Pope Francis’ two synods in Rome, the culmination of his two-year effort to draw in and listen to Catholics the world over. Issues centered on divorced Catholics, women, the LGBTQ community, and the environment are part of an ambitious agenda for this historic gathering. NCR will be there, reporting on events and developments with an expertise and understanding very few news organizations can deliver.

We’re able to do that thanks to all of you. Please look through these pages. Find your own name, for sure — but look at the others, too. You are all part of an amazing community of engaged Catholics, vital members of our mission.

Thank you, as always, for your support and for the difference it makes here — every single day.

With gratitude,

Joe Ferullo

We are called to act with mercy and justice.
Thank you!
