

by Teresa Malcolm

View Author Profile

Join the Conversation

Send your thoughts to Letters to the Editor. Learn more

July 24, 2019

Share on FacebookShare on TwitterEmail to a friendPrint

Our team of copy editors reads and posts most of what you see on the websites for National Catholic Reporter and Global Sisters Report (the NCR project focusing on women religious). The Copy Desk Daily highlights recommended news and opinion articles that have crossed our desks on their way to you.

Sex abuse survivors' advocacy group wants two bishops blocked from ministry. The two bishops in question are Bishop Robert Finn, who resigned several years after his misdemeanor conviction for failing to report suspected child abuse, and retired Bishop Joseph Hart, who's been accused of abusing minors. They both have ties to the Diocese of Kansas City-St. Joseph, Missouri, so the Survivors Network of those Abused by Priests has directed its request to the diocese's current bishop.

Michael Sean Winters is tracking polls, looking toward 2020: A lot can happen in a year in politics, he notes — as he also notes a recent poll that gave Donald Trump his highest approval rating so far, 44%.

Richard Rohr synthesizes his lifetime work of 'alternative orthodoxy' in his new book The Universal Christ. Dana Greene has a review.

As we struggle to cope with the onslaught of turmoil-filled news, the church needs to be better at helping us be better Christians, writes Fr. Dan Horan.

Advertisement

*Want to keep updated with the latest news from the National Catholic Reporter?
Sign up here for news updates by email — including one that will send you Copy Desk Daily every Monday through Friday.*