

Published on National Catholic Reporter (<https://www.ncronline.org>)

June 11, 2009 at 7:14am

A sombre silence fell over Dublin

by Dennis Coday

NCR Today

The Times of London is reporting this morning that:

A sombre silence fell over Dublin yesterday when thousands of men, women and children marched through the capital to highlight decades of abuse in Catholic-run residential institutions, a shameful secret exposed last month by a government report.

Hundreds of thousands of children passed through orphanages and care homes run by religious orders ... Horrific stories of rape and beatings carried out by sadistic nuns and brothers went unbelieved and ignored for decades until publication of the Ryan report last month unleashed a national wave of anger.

Victims, their families and advocates marched on the Dail (the Irish parliament). More stories here:

- Thousands march in Dublin for child abuse victims
- Tears and fury as institutional abuse survivors march on Dáil
- Dublin: thousands in silent march for abuse victims

Advertisement

Source URL (retrieved on 08/20/2017 - 18:58): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/ncr-today/sombre-silence-fell-over-dublin>

Links:

[1] <https://www.ncronline.org/donate?clickSource=article-end>