

L.A.'s 'best police chief'

Tom Gallagher | Aug. 6, 2009 NCR Today

It's always interesting to see a self-proclaimed sceptic change his ro her mind [1] to the positive, as is the case of Jesuit priest George Boyle, who is the executive director of a gang-intervention program in Los Angeles. Early on, he was wary of the new police chief, William Bratton, formerly of New York City. After 7+ years in Los Angeles, Bratton just announced that he's heading to a private sector job based in New York City.

Today, according to Father Boyle: "He's the best chief the city has ever known," Boyle said.

---

Source URL (retrieved on 05/29/2017 - 14:20): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/ncr-today/las-best-police-chief>

Links:

[1] <http://latimesblogs.latimes.com/lanow/2009/08/father-boyle-an-early-skeptic-says-bratton-was-las-best-police-chief.html>