

Published on National Catholic Reporter (<https://www.ncronline.org>)

October 1, 2009 at 2:54pm

A new Catholic labor blog worth watching

by Thomas C. Fox

NCR Today

Bill Lange, a long time Milwaukee Catholic labor activist has started a blog. Those interested in progressive Catholic social justice issues might be well served to keep an eye on it.

Lange writes:

Let me relate some of the many reasons I am doing this blog. First: the Labor Movement and the Faith Community can have a greater political impact for justice with a combined effort. Second: to show the path to reconciliation of positions if there is conflict between them such as the wedge issues of abortion, gay rights, and stem cell research. Third: A valuable contribution of the Encyclicals is that they establish the ?why? of an economic system and the ?how? follows. Contemporary economics assumes the ?why? as a given with little comment.

Source URL (retrieved on 04/19/2018 - 6:50am): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/ncr-today/new-catholic-labor-blog-worth-watching>

Links:

[1] <https://www.ncronline.org/forward/join?clickSource=end-article>

[2] <https://www.ncronline.org/node/160616>