

An African package for church reform emerges at Synod

John L. Allen Jr. | Oct. 8, 2009 NCR Today

By JOHN L. ALLEN JR.

Rome

Generally speaking, Catholic debate outside of Europe and the United States is usually distinguished by its ad extra orientation, meaning that the focus is not so much insider Catholic baseball but rather the burning challenges of the broader society, and how the Catholic church can be an agent for change.

What seems to be emerging at the Oct. 4-25 Synod for Africa, however, is a conviction that for the Catholic church to be helpful in Africa ad extra, it first has some ad intra business to resolve.

Read the full story here: African bishops examine 'practice of power, authority' [1]

Source URL (retrieved on 05/25/2017 - 05:32): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/ncr-today/african-package-church-reform-emerges-synod>

Links:

[1] <http://ncronline.org/node/15246>