

Published on National Catholic Reporter (<https://www.ncronline.org>)

October 28, 2009 at 1:05pm

Come on in, the water's holy!

by Heidi Schlumpf

NCR Today

Stephen Colbert gave his take on the pope's invitation to Anglicans last night. Lots of funny one-liners: calling the Archbishop of Canterbury "the diet pope" and Fox news analyst Father Jonathan Morris "Father Cute Priest."

Morris called the pope's controversial offer a sign of Christian unity. To which Colbert responded, "Nothing brings Christians together like excluding gays and women."

Guest Episcopalian Rev. Randall Balmer publicly declined the invitation to join the Catholic Church, saying, "Holy water's fine. Let's not drink the Kool-Aid."

Watch the clip (commercial first) to see why Colbert compares the Catholic Church to the National League and the Anglicans to the American League.

Advertisement

Source URL (retrieved on 02/18/2018 - 5:58pm): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/ncr-today/come-waters-holy>

Links:

[1] <https://www.ncronline.org/donate?clickSource=article-end>

[2] <https://www.ncronline.org/node/160616>