

Vietnamese Rep. Anh Cao discerns with Ignatian spirituality

Thomas C. Fox | Nov. 17, 2009 NCR Today

A Vietnamese-born lawyer, the first Vietnamese-American to be elected to Congress, and a former Jesuit seminarian, Anh "Joseph" Cao was the lone Republican to vote for landmark health care reform on November 7, 2009.

Cao spoke with National Jesuit News [1] about the process of discernment that he uses in reaching decisions as a U.S. congressman, how those decisions are grounded in his background in Ignatian spirituality and why he didn't chose the party line in voting for health care reform.
