

\ "Faith at the summit\" site follows the world's religious leaders attending the Copenhagen conference

Rich Heffern | Dec. 10, 2009 NCR Today

Odyssey Networks has a "Faith at the Summit" website [1] that is following representatives from the world's religions attending the Copenhagen climate change conference. It includes videos of interviews, press conferences and news about faith in action at the climate summit. Representatives attending include Benedictine Sr. Joan Chittister, Archbishop of Canterbury Rowan Williams, Venerable Bhikkhu Bodhi (Buddhist), author Andrew Harvey, and many others.

Odyssey Networks is the nation's largest coalition of Jewish, Christian and Muslim faith groups dedicated to achieving interfaith understanding and promoting peace and social justice through media.
