Oscar Wilde once said he could resist everything except temptation.

According to The Weekly Standard, Sen. Jim DeMint, who is the spiritual and financial godfather of the Tea Party movement, has announced [1] his intention to raise $174,000 for Christine O'Donnell's campaign by next week. The amount equals what she could have received from the Republican National Election committees which have vowed to cut her loose.

DeMint's money will help bring O'Donnell to prominence. I am so tempted to send in a check!
