

Yahoo Watch: Nat'l Review

Michael Sean Winters | Sep. 30, 2010 Distinctly Catholic

Ya know, the "Corner" at National Review is becoming one big Yahoo Watch. But, today's entry [1] by Mark Krikorian about Meg Whitman's former maid is repulsive in the extreme. He employs the phrase "Illegal Alien" twice at the article's beginning as if the maid was from Mars not Mexico. What's next? Calling undocumented workers "sub-human"? Krikorian finishes his little hissy fit by asking whose Social Security number the maid stole and wondering if that person's credit score has been ruined. Why not ask if the person whose Social Security number the maid "stole" must give back all that extra money from the maid and Whitman's Social Security contributions?

This stuff is hateful, just hateful.
