

Benedict Holds No Grudges

Michael Sean Winters | Jan. 5, 2011 | Distinctly Catholic

This morning, the Holy See also named new members and consultants [1] to the Pontifical Council for Pastoral Health Care. Among the new consultants is Dr. John Haas, President of the National Bioethics Center in Philadelphia. It was Haas who recently said of the Pope's remarks on condoms that the pontiff was "wrong."

Say what you will about Pope Benedict, he evidently does not hold any grudges.
