

Published on National Catholic Reporter (<https://www.ncronline.org>)

January 7, 2011 at 7:59am

Ethics and Education

by Michael Sean Winters

Distinctly Catholic

This week's Common Good Forum at Catholics in Alliance for the Common Good, has an excellent essay by Sharon Latchaw Hirsh, President of Rosemont College, on the role of ethics in education. Her essay, as the good folks at CACG note, is an example of the kind of thinking invited by Pope John Paul II's Ex Corde Ecclesiae, which is usually used as a battering ram by conservatives but, in fact, contained much food for thought for people of any and all ideological stripes.

Source URL (retrieved on 04/21/2018 - 1:01am): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/distinctly-catholic/ethics-and-education>

Links:

[1] <https://www.ncronline.org/forward/join?clickSource=end-article>

[2] <https://www.ncronline.org/node/160616>