

Hats Off To Boehner and Lieberman

Michael Sean Winters | Jan. 26, 2011 | Distinctly Catholic

Regular readers will know that I do not usually agree with the policies advocated by Speaker Boehner and that, as a native Nutmegger who has known Sen. Joe Lieberman for twenty years, I have little in the way of good feelings about him either. But, both men get high marks for their effort to revive the D.C. Opportunity scholarships [1] which give much-needed tuition assistance to D.C. parents who send their children to private and parochial schools. I believe, and believe firmly, that government has a primary responsibility to educate the nation's children and that investment in education is money well spent. But, for a variety of complicated reasons, the D.C. schools are a mess, and until they are better, no child should be made to suffer a bad education if we can find them something better at a private or parochial school.

Source URL (retrieved on 06/23/2017 - 00:40): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/distinctly-catholic/hats-boehner-and-lieberman>

Links:

[1] <http://www.foxnews.com/politics/2011/01/25/boehner-lieberman-calling-restart-dc-school-voucher-program/#ixzz1C92yQUKe>