

Newt's Getting Desperate

Michael Sean Winters | May. 25, 2011 | Distinctly Catholic

When you look to a hack like Zell Miller for help, you're in trouble. Sarah Posner has the story [1] at Religion Dispatches.

Mr. Gingrich: You are better than this. You are a Catholic now and you should consult what the Holy Father has had to say about Islam before jumping into bed with these neo-Crusaders.

I acknowledge the difficulties in Christian relations with Islam. I am aware of the violence that often accompanies the relationship in Africa and Indonesia and elsewhere. I hope that Islam will find, and find fast, some ways of accomodating itself to those parts of modernity that are worthy of accomodation, such as religious tolerance. But, this hate-filled nonsense is profoundly un-Christian.

Source URL (retrieved on 07/26/2017 - 08:15): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/distinctly-catholic/newts-getting-desperate>

Links:

[1] http://www.religiondispatches.org/dispatches/sarahposner/4659/christocrat_competition/