

Head of Zenit resigns, cites differences with Legion

Tom Roberts | Sep. 29, 2011 NCR Today

Spanish journalist Jesus Colina has resigned as founder and editorial director of Zenit, a Catholic news agency, citing differences over issues of trust and transparency with the Legionaries of Christ, Zenit's sponsoring agency. The story was reported today by Catholic News Service's John Thavis. Read the full report here. [1]
