

Hello Colorado

Michael Sean Winters | Oct. 8, 2012 Distinctly Catholic

Tonight, at the St. Thomas Aquinas Institute affiliated with campus ministry at the University of Colorado in Boulder, I will be giving a talk on the Catholic Church and the 2012 election. For more info, click here. [1] This means no more posts this morning and I am not sure about tomorrow morning because I need to get back to the airport out there and, given the time difference, I am not sure how that will work. But, if you are in the Boulder area, please come and say hello tonight. I intend to do better in my Colorado premiere than the President did in his debate last week!!!!
