

Paper and ink beat the storm

Tom Roberts | Oct. 30, 2012 NCR Today
Hurricane Sandy

Three cheers for old fashioned, throwback newspaper delivery! The Huffington Post, Gawker and other websites were down on Tuesday because of power outage problems, but my Washington Post -- the real ink and paper kind -- was in my driveway yesterday and this morning in suburban Maryland. So, take that Sandy! We lost a front railing to crazy winds and rain last night, but the paper was there by 6 this morning. My old newsman's heart was happy.

Source URL (retrieved on 06/23/2017 - 09:40): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/ncr-today/paper-and-ink-beat-storm>