

Still Cleaning Up After Sandy

Michael Sean Winters | Nov. 30, 2012 Distinctly Catholic

This article in The Atlantic [1] reports on the on-going efforts to clean up after Sandy destroyed much of the neighborhoods along the shore in New York and New Jersey. The article captures a whole lot more, too, because it is written with a keen observational eye that belongs to a young writer who used to work for me as a waiter at Kramerbooks & Afterwords here in Washington. Nicholas Brown is a writer with a future. If only he had converted to Catholicism! (Private joke - his mother will now be laughing!)

Source URL (retrieved on 05/24/2017 - 18:23): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/distinctly-catholic/still-cleaning-after-sandy>

Links:

[1] <http://www.theatlantic.com/national/archive/2012/11/seawater-and-small-buddhas-2-days-in-the-basements-of-the-rockaways/265574/#.ULOfPvxg2k.facebook>