

Published on National Catholic Reporter (<https://www.ncronline.org>)

December 11, 2012 at 9:10am

Personal & Political

by Michael Sean Winters

Distinctly Catholic

Holly Taylor Coolman is one of my favorites among the rising generation of young theologians. Her cast of mind is actually quite different from mine: She is far more comfortable moving into the nitty, gritty details of personal life in her writing than I am. Her wonderful essay at "Third Day Theology" is an example of how she combines her prodigious learning with an enormous sympathy for the facts of a given case, in this instance, the issue of abortion. The next time you hear someone rant about a "war on women," you might want to recommend this article to them.

Source URL (retrieved on 03/23/2018 - 10:17am): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/distinctly-catholic/personal-political>

Links:

[1] <https://www.ncronline.org/forward/join?clickSource=end-article>

[2] <https://www.ncronline.org/node/160616>