

NY Post editors captured Benedict news as only they can

Brian Roewe | Feb. 13, 2013 NCR Today
Benedict Resigns

On Tuesday, NCR looked at world headlines [1] capturing the news of Pope Benedict XVI's resignation, thanks to the D.C.-based Newseum.

In limiting the focus of that post to the news museum's top 10 front pages, some obviously were overlooked, including the front page of the New York Post. Known for their provocative, sometimes controversial and often pun-tastic headlines, the editorial staff didn't miss in capturing Benedict's nearly unprecedented decision, blazed as usual in its large, white-lettered font.

You can see the Post's Feb. 12 front page below, and browse more newspapers' coverage from around the globe on your own by at the Newseum's archive of Benedict coverage [2].

Pope gives God 2 weeks' notice

I'M OUTTA HERE, GUYS!

Holy smokes! Pope Benedict XVI leaves a roundful of shocked cardinals at the Vatican yesterday right after telling them he was resigning at the end of the month. At 85, he said, he's "no longer suited" for the job.

PAGES 4-9

'Bap! Bap!' SEAL tells how he shot bin Laden PAGES 22-23

(Photo courtesy of Newseum)

Source URL (retrieved on 05/27/2017 - 00:00): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/ncr-today/ny-post-editors-captured-benedict-news-only-they-can>

Links:

[1] <http://ncronline.org/blogs/ncr-today/global-headlines-capture-benedicts-resignation>

[2] http://www.newseum.org/todaysfrontpages/default_archive.asp?tfp_show_sort=no&tfp_region=all