

Illinois Senate approves same-sex marriage

Heidi Schlumpf | Feb. 14, 2013 NCR Today

In a Valentine's Day gift to same-sex couples in Illinois, the state's Senate approved a bill to lift a ban on gay marriage today. According to the Associated Press [1], "Senators voted 34-21 to approve the measure, sending it on to the state House where Democrats also hold a majority. Gov. Pat Quinn, a Chicago Democrat, has said he will sign the bill if the House approves it."

Cardinal Francis George of the Archdiocese of Chicago and the six other Illinois bishops had issued a letter to Catholics in January [2] encouraging them to contact their state legislators. Perhaps they did--but didn't share the hierarchy's view on the issue.

Source URL (retrieved on 07/28/2017 - 13:59): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/ncr-today/illinois-senate-approves-same-sex-marriage>

Links:

[1] <http://abcnews.go.com/US/wireStory/illinois-senate-votes-legalize-gay-marriage-18504427>

[2] http://articles.chicagotribune.com/2013-01-02/news/ct-met-cardinal-george-gay-marriage-0102-20130102_1_gay-marriage-bishops-issue-letter-marriage-fairness-act