

Henneberger Takesdown Shanley

Michael Sean Winters | Feb. 15, 2013 Distinctly Catholic

In this morning's Washington Post [1], Melinda Henneberger takesdown John Patrick Shanley's absurd op-ed at the New York Times in which he hurled accusations against Pope Benedict XVI without producing so much as an ounce of evidence for the claims he makes. Delighted to see I am not the only person distressed by the Times' willingness to publish puerile articles about the Church.
