

Tea Party v. Viable GOP Future

Michael Sean Winters | Apr. 4, 2013 Distinctly Catholic

NBC Latino has an op-ed by my friend Juhem Navarro-Rivera [1], who works with the Public Religion Research Institute. Navarro-Rivera explains the results of a recent PRRI survey on attitudes towards immigration reform and reaches the conclusion that the leadership of the GOP may need to make a choice: Bend to the anti-immigrant wishes of the Tea Party or craft a viable future for the GOP on the national stage. They can't do both.

Source URL (retrieved on 06/24/2017 - 12:29): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/distinctly-catholic/tea-party-v-viable-gop-future>

Links:

[1] <http://nbclatino.com/2013/03/29/op-ed-the-republican-tug-of-war-between-hispanics-and-the-tea-party/>