

H/T to Gilbert & Sullivan

Michael Sean Winters | Apr. 15, 2013 Distinctly Catholic

Okay, okay. I know the Holy Father does not want us to be "self-referential" but I must confess my disappointment that not a single person, in the comments or by email, picked up on one line in my review of George Weigel's new book [1]. I wrote that Wiegel held up Pope John Paul II as the "model of a major modern papacy." I had in mind the great song from Gilbert & Sullivan's "Pirates of Penzance." Here is the song:

Source URL (retrieved on 05/29/2017 - 02:47): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/distinctly-catholic/ht-gilbert-sullivan>

Links:

[1] <http://ncronline.org/blogs/distinctly-catholic/evangelical-catholicism-review>