

Kinsley: NRA & Boston Marathon

Michael Sean Winters | Apr. 25, 2013 Distinctly Catholic

Michael Kinsley, in addition to being one of the nicest people on the planet, demonstrates in this essay at The New Republic [1], why he remains also one of the sharpest essayists on the planet. He examines the issue of crockpots for crackpots. Hilarious, scary, incisive, all at the same time.

Source URL (retrieved on 05/27/2017 - 17:09): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/distinctly-catholic/kinsley-nra-boston-marathon>

Links:

[1] <http://www.newrepublic.com/article/113017/nra-and-boston-marathon-bombing-will-wayne-lapierre-defend-bombs>