

+Leahy's Pro-Life Sermon

Michael Sean Winters | May. 14, 2013 | Distinctly Catholic

A friend sent me this link [1] to a homily by Bishop Brendan Leahy of Limerick at a pro-life Mass. As my friend noted in his email, "he has an amazing ability to integrate identity and openness, and in fact to see both as mutually constitutive rather than as competitive or even merely parallel. He's genuine and the real deal." After reading the sermon, I think you will agree.

Source URL (retrieved on 06/23/2017 - 15:33): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/distinctly-catholic/leahys-pro-life-sermon>

Links:

[1] <http://www.catholicbishops.ie/2013/05/05/homily-notes-bishop-brendan-leahy-mass-national-prayer-vigil/>