

Apple's Tax Bill

Michael Sean Winters | May. 22, 2013 | Distinctly Catholic

An editorial in the Washington Post [1] this morning hits the nail on the head. Apple did not apparently break the law by diverting $30 billion in profits to Ireland where the company paid no taxes on that profit. The problem is not with Apple, but with a byzantine tax code that makes such tax avoidance schemes possible. It is time for Congress and the administration to get busy with a real overhaul of the tax code.

Source URL (retrieved on 06/28/2017 - 15:59): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/distinctly-catholic/apples-tax-bill>

Links:

[1] http://www.washingtonpost.com/opinions/apple-is-shifting-its-tax-burden/2013/05/21/a3a81404-c24f-11e2-9fe2-6ee52d0eb7c1_story.html