

New Survey on Attitudes Toward Affirmative Action & DOMA

Michael Sean Winters | May. 30, 2013 | Distinctly Catholic

The Public Religion Research Institute has new survey data [1] on Americans' attitudes towards affirmative action programs for college admissions and on DOMA, both issues which are before the Supreme Court. I wish the survey had asked about legacy scholarships which, to my mind, are a greater affront to justice than any other college admissions policy. Still, an important survey.
