

Andrew Greeley dies Wednesday night

Dennis Coday | May. 30, 2013 NCR Today

Fr. Andrew Greeley, an eminent sociologist of religion, probably the best-selling priest/novelist of all time, and the Catholic church's most prominent in-house critic, died late Wednesday night in Chicago. He was 85.

John L. Allen Jr. remembers the man and his legend in this appreciation [1]. He also wrote a profound profile on Greeley in 1999 [2], a piece Allen has said is one of his favorites.

Source URL (retrieved on 06/25/2017 - 20:46): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/ncr-today/andrew-greeley-dies-wednesday-night>

Links:

[1] <http://ncronline.org/node/52906>

[2] http://natcath.org/NCR_Online/archives2/1999a/031999/031999a.htm