If you want to see precisely what is wrong with the Tea Party, read this article [1] in this morning's Washington Post about Tea Party opposition to the "Common Core" initiative to improve our nation's schools. I especially call readers' attention to the comments of former Florida Governor Jeb Bush who is a champion of the effort. He lays out arguments. The Tea Party responds with a conspiracy theory. And, you can guess whether GOP governors in the crosshairs will listen to Bush and reason or to the Tea Party.
