

Hartford, Conn., barber reinstated by mayor

Eloisa Perez-Lozano | Jun. 20, 2013 NCR Today

Earlier this week, a man known as "Joe the Barber" was told he could not give haircuts [1] in exchange for hugs in a Connecticut park because of a lack of city permits.

Mayor Pedro Segarra has officially welcomed Anthony Cymerys back [2] into the park to continue giving his services to the city's homeless for 25 years. When asked why he does what he does, Cymerys quotes Jesus: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

Source URL (retrieved on 06/22/2017 - 12:09): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/hartford-barber-reinstated-mayor>

Links:

[1] <http://ncronline.org/blogs/ncr-today/good-samaritan-barber-removed-park-connecticut>

[2] <http://www.religionnews.com/2013/06/20/barber-wins-right-to-continue-haircuts-for-the-homeless/>