

Civil War Sisters

Michael Sean Winters | Jul. 8, 2013 Distinctly Catholic

At the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, [1] Ann Rodgers has one of her typically wonderful articles on the role of Catholic sisters staffing military hospitals during the Civil War. Then, as now, the sisters were on the front lines bringing the Lord's healing presence to those who suffered.

Source URL (retrieved on 07/24/2017 - 19:58): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/distinctly-catholic/civil-war-sisters>

Links:

[1] <http://www.post-gazette.com/stories/local/state/unions-top-military-nurses-were-nuns-693730/>