

Hertzberg on the Filibuster

Michael Sean Winters | Jul. 25, 2013 Distinctly Catholic

Rick Hertzberg, at The New Yorker [1], not only takes on the filibuster, but usefully reminds people who tend to pay homage to the Federalist Papers as if they were Sacred Writ, that they were op-eds written by men who sometimes did not even believe in the arguments they were making. As always with Hertzberg, crisp writing and incisive thinking.
