

Update on House GOP Immigration Mashup

Michael Sean Winters | Jul. 30, 2013 | Distinctly Catholic

Politico has an update [1] on the tortured process by which the House of Representatives is grappling with immigration reform. Despite the challenges, if something, anything passes the House, the chance for a conference committee to essentially ratify the Senate bill and bring it to a vote will increase the chances of getting something on the president's desk this year.
