

More GOP Congressmen Back Immigration Reform

Michael Sean Winters | Aug. 19, 2013 | Distinctly Catholic

Drip, by drip, the Sanity Caucus in the House GOP [1] is coming round to the need to pass comprehensive immigration reform that includes a pathway to citizenship. This month, the happily named Cong. Daniel Webster from Florida joined the push and now Illinois Cong. Aaron Schock, heretofore known mostly for his abs, has jumped on board. Welcome to them both. A few more and we will have enough for a discharge petition.
