SENTENCE ON WOMEN 'INADEVERTENTLY DELETED'

In his interview with Pope Francis, America magazine "inadvertently" omitted a sentence from the paper's summary about the role of women in the church. The magazine's editor-in-chief, Andrew Ross, said the sentence "should have been included in the summary of the interview." The sentence, which was deleted from the magazine's summary, stated: "The role of women in the church is a topic that is being discussed in the interview." The sentence was also deleted from the magazine's website.

FOR THE FIRST TIME 'MILITARY CENTER'

The Vatican will allow all of these people to be part of the general audience and to the admission of all people, regardless of their religion.

"The Vatican will allow all of these people to be part of the general audience and to the admission of all people, regardless of their religion. This is a historic moment for the church and for the world. It shows that the church is open to all people and that it is committed to promoting the common good of all humanity."

WORK: TEACHING IS HOW TO LIVE

Francis said that teaching is how to live. He said that teaching is not just about passing on information, but about helping people to understand the meaning of their lives and to live in a way that is consistent with the Gospel.

A 'culture of encounter' Francis wishes to release Vatican II's bold vision from captivity

By RICHARD GALLAGHER

Pope Francis arrives to lead his general audience in St. Peter's Square at the Vatican Dec. 10.

In the last 50 years we have had five popes, the first four were of the Italian and Swiss (Swiss) background. Francis is the first pope from the Americas. He is a man of encounter, a man who is open to all people and who is committed to promoting the common good of all humanity.

Francis said that teaching is how to live. He said that teaching is not just about passing on information, but about helping people to understand the meaning of their lives and to live in a way that is consistent with the Gospel. He said that teaching is a way of life, a way of being in the world.
