

Vatican newspaper begins series on 'theology of women'

NCR Staff | Dec. 31, 2013 NCR Today

The Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano's monthly insert 'Women Church World' (Donna Chiesa Mondo) will be offering a series of articles focusing on the theology of women, beginning with its next edition January 2-3, Vatican radio reported. [1]

The series comes in response to Pope Francis' repeated calls for a reexamination of the 'theology of women' in the Church.

As editor Lucetta Scaraffia explains in a January editorial, each month a male or female theologian will analyze 'this open question central to the Church today' as a means for 'enriching' the discussion about the contributions to and the role of women in the Church.
