

Fr. Sirico: Propaganda or Not?

Michael Sean Winters | Jan. 14, 2014 | Distinctly Catholic

This interview at Forbes, [1] with Fr. Robert Sirico, caught my eye. I have no doubt that Fr. Sirico is sincere when he says that he wants to help the poor. I also believe that there are innovative micro-credit programs that use the instruments refined by capitalism to assist the poor. Still, this has the feel of propaganda. I would feel better if I knew that, if faced with a binary choice, of upholding the "laws of the market" and helping the poor, Fr. Sirico would unabashedly choose the latter.

Source URL (retrieved on 06/24/2017 - 16:52): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/distinctly-catholic/fr-sirico-propaganda-or-not>

Links:

[1] <http://www.forbes.com/sites/jerrybowyer/2013/12/26/does-poverty-have-a-cure-an-interview-with-father-robert-sirico/>