

Botched execution: When we will stop the insanity?

Dennis Coday | Apr. 30, 2014 NCR Today

The Associate Press story I saw this morning made me sick to my stomach. When will the US follow the rest of the world and end the barbarity?

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) ? An Oklahoma death row inmate writhed, clenched his teeth and appeared to struggle against the restraints holding him to a gurney before prison officials halted an execution in which the state was using a new drug combination for the first time. The man later died of a heart attack.

Read the full story: Man dies of heart attack after botched execution [1]

This is NCR latest death penalty Editorial: The tide is turning on the death penalty [2]

Source URL (retrieved on 05/26/2017 - 04:23): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/ncr-today/botched-execution-when-we-will-stop-insanity>

Links:

[1] <http://bigstory.ap.org/article/man-dies-heart-attack-after-botched-execution>

[2] <https://www.ncronline.org/node/70256>