

Garnett on S. Court Public Prayer Decision

Michael Sean Winters | May. 12, 2014 | Distinctly Catholic

At the SCOTUS blog [1], Notre Dame's Rick Garnett looks at what the Supreme Court's decision in Town of Greece v. Galloway means for First Amendment jurisprudence. My only real quibble with his analysis is the quote about this decision, like others, being a "dog's breakfast." My dogs eat very well at breakfast, thank you very much.

Source URL (retrieved on 06/29/2017 - 05:42): <https://www.ncronline.org/blogs/distinctly-catholic/garnett-s-court-public-prayer-decision>

Links:

[1] <http://www.scotusblog.com/2014/05/symposium-religious-pluralism-civic-unity-and-the-judicial-role/>